

sales contracts to customers for production from the RIL-BP's KGD6 block and is actively pursuing opportunities for marketing the proposed output from R-Series field in the KG Basin. R-Series is expected to begin producing 12 million standard cubic meters a day of natural gas from 2020. "The natural gas demand is rising rapidly in the country and will continue to do so in the future. Nearly half the country's demand is being met by LNG," said Tahliani, explaining the business case for importing LNG and talking to Indian customers. He said his firm was in talks with all the players from 2020. "We would soon start meeting customers, gaze their interest and understand their requirements," he said. Tahliani has spent over 25 years in the oil and gas sector. He has developed gas value chain businesses and worked on oil, gas and power developments.
